Jailer hopeful responds to misdemeanor theft charge

BY JOSH SHEPHERD, NEWS WRITER

A Harrison County Jailer candidate is facing misdemeanor theft charges in connection with a case report filed with the Harrison County Sheriff's Office last December.

Anthony Newby, 43, of 116 Marshall Ave. was served a court summons on Monday morning to appear in district court to answer charges of misdemeanor theft under $500. Newby was named as a defendant along with his stepson Brandon Williams, 18, and James Gallagher, 41, of 5188 KY 36.

Prior to being served with the summons, Newby filed with the Harrison County Clerk's office to run for Harrison County

According to the case report filed by Harrison County deputy sheriff Robert Peak, last Dec. 23, Anita Parsons of 208 Richardson Lane reported that several items were stolen from her property and she had video footage of the people that had taken the property.

Among the items listed as stolen included a Stihl chainsaw, two log chains and three marine batteries. The theft was alleged to have occurred on Thursday, Dec. 19, at about 3 p.m.

When Parsons reported the incident, she said she would bring the video footage to the Sheriff's department.

The footage did not arrive at the Sheriff's office until January at which point, Dep. Peak reviewed the case file and video footage.

In an interview with Dep. Peak and in a comment to the press on Monday afternoon, Newby identified

Bid awarded for revamping county courthouse

Based on a recommendation from Brandstetter Carroll Inc. Architects, the Harrison County Fiscal Court awarded the courthouse renovation project to Trace Creek Construction based out of Vanceburg. The vote was 6-1. Magistrate Bradley Copes cast the only No vote on the project. In the absence of Judge-Executive Alex

Barnett, Bradley Marshall was appointed chair of the fiscal court meeting and, therefore, abstained from voting on all motions.

Michael Carroll, vice president of Brandstetter Carroll, reported that three companies submitted bids. All three, he said, came within his company's estimate of the costs for the renovation project.

Trace Creek Construction was the low bidder at $1,175,500. Other companies that bid in the project included Mark Spaulding out of Florence. Its bid was $1,210,000. Dean Builds, a company out of Lexington, was the highest bidder at $1,312,889.

Included in Trace Creek's bid is a $50,000 contingency against potential change orders that may raise the overall cost of the renovation. "In any renovation project, when workers start tearing into walls, there are going to be change orders. There always will be changes," Carroll said. Magistrate William Fritz asked what the average cost overrun on a project like the courthouse could be. Carroll said the average overrun is between five and 10 percent, which is why each company automatically includes a contingency clause in their bids in case of complications.

himself. Williams and Gallagher as the subjects on Parsons' video. According to the case report, Newby stated that he and his stepson had received permission from Steven Parsons, Anita Parsons son, to collect junk and metal scrap from the address in question and sell it at Randy's Recycling Center in downtown Cynthiana.

At the time of the reported incident, however, Steven Parsons was not the property owner. Anita Parsons was the owner.

Furthermore, according to the case report, Steven Parsons denied ever granting permission for any property to be removed.

In a subsequent interview with Anita and Steven Parsons on Feb. 18, Steven Parsons said he had granted permission to James Gallagher to remove scraps of tin that were lying in the yard. But, again, Anita Parsons asserted that her son did not have authority to grant that permission. Nor was anyone given permission to remove the items listed as stolen, she said.

On Feb. 17, Steven Parsons reported that Newby and Williams came to his residence on Second Street in Berry and returned the Stihl Chainsaw and the two log chains.

The marine batteries are alleged to have been in Gallagher's posses-

In an interview with Dep. Peak, Newby produced a video recording he had made while at Steve Parson's residence. The video, the report said, shows Steven Parsons saying that Newby and Williams had permission to remove junk from the residence and that he had agreed to inform his mother.

In a later interview with the deputy, Steven Parsons stated that he had said what he thought Newby wanted to hear because their presence on his property made him "uncomfortable."

In a Monday afternoon interview, Newby said that it was never his intent to take anything that didn't belong to him and that the misdemeanor charges stemmed from a misunderstanding.

"We assumed that Steven had the authority to allow us permission to take junk from the property," Newby said. Newby said that all three co-defendants had received permission from Steven to remove junk from the Richardson Lane address to be cashed in for recycling.

"I was aware of the surveillance camera they had at their house. It was a bright, sunny dav.... it's not like we were pulling up to intentionally rob these people," Newby said. "I've tried to apologize and just let them know I'm sorry for the misunderstanding."

Attributing the charges to a series of mistaken assumptions on his part, Newby said that he had hoped to clear up the confusion by returning the chainsaw and log chains. He also said that he will make full restitution for the marine batteries that were reported stolen. "I know that she [Mrs. Parsons] has been robbed several times by other people, but that wasn't our intent,"

Newby said. Newby also stated that he intended to remain in the race for Harrison County jailer. According to Dep. Peak, there have been at least three other unrelated cases of theft or burglary on Anita Parson's property. In each case, suspects have been caught and prosecuted.

With regard to Newby, Dep. Peak said that the candidate for jailer has no other record of criminal activity except for a speeding citation coupled with failure to wear a seatbelt.

professional, meaning parents often have to visit school when a nurse is not available. Now, those with diabetes will be able to self-administer insulin, and schools will be able to train staff to help them as well as those who have

Another major initiative – creating an adultabuse registry to help ensure abusers never have the chance again to harm someone else in their care – cleared a major hurdle that day as well, when House and Senate leaders pledged their support during a press conference with Governor Beshear. This has been a long-time priority in the House, and the Senate passed a version shortly after the press conference. It appears that a compromise will soon be reached, and that would enable care providers to know if a current or potentially new employee has had a substantiated case of elder abuse or neglect in his or her past. It is worth noting that money to create this registry was budgeted in 2012, meaning it can be operational quickly.

In addition to these health-related measures, the House approved another one last week that could have a major impact in reducing the number of people dying from cardiac arrest.

House Bill 205 would call on all high schools to include basic CPR as part of their health curriculum. Many schools are already doing this, but we want to make sure that all students have training that saves lives.

This is a major initiative of the American Heart Association, which reports that cardiac arrest strikes nearly 360,000 people a year outside of a hospital setting. Unfortunately, about 90 percent do not survive, and the lack of proper care like CPR is a main reason why. The American Heart Association estimates that, if all 50 states implement this requirement in their high schools, the country would have a million newly trained people every few years.

Another bill the House voted for last week is also designed to help others. House Bill 64, which has been through the chamber before, would give many who have been convicted of a Class D felony – the lowest of the four felony classes – a chance to have their record expunged five years after the completion of their sentence.

Many of these Kentuckians are having a difficult time finding work because of their felony record, which may have occurred years if not decades earlier. The expungement process is already allowed for misdemeanors, and there would be safeguards. For example, this would not apply if the person has a prior felony record, or if the crime involved abuse. Prosecutors and any victims would have a chance to be heard as

Two other bills clearing the House last week are targeted at those looking ahead to starting their education and those wondering what career to pursue as they near the end of their time in the classroom. Under the first, the state would establish a "Books for Brains" program that would build on various local efforts that are providing age-appropriate books to young children to foster a love of reading.

The other bill, meanwhile, would have state and postsecondary officials work together to post the employment rates and earnings by college degree at our public universities. This could prove to be a handy guide, especially for non-traditional students returning to the class-

With March just a few days away, the end of this year's legislative session is starting to come into focus. The House is expected to finalize its budget proposal in the next week or so and, as always during even-numbered years, will be ready to work with the Senate on a comprise in the session's last few days.

On a personal note, I was honored to host several county officials from Harrison, Pendleton, Robertson and Scott counties on Thursday last week as part of County Officials Day. Hundreds of local officials from throughout the state attended.

I will keep you updated on how the legislative session progresses during these final days. Please don't hesitate to let me know your concerns. There is still plenty of time to contact me. Biancke's re-opens . Wednesday

Just 10 days after a fire shut-down the popular Biancke's Restaurant, re-opened on Wednesday, Feb. 26.

"Everything has been completely rewired or checked," said owner Mary Todd Ashbrook, who has now gone through a second fire.

The most recent fire was on Sunday, Feb. while the breakfast crowd was dining.

Smoke began seeping through the cracks in the floor from the basement. Ashbrook and others went to the basement to find the main distribution box in flames. After the first fire in June, the restaurant had to be closed for 11 days. However. it took much longer to repair the third dining room and her upstairs apartment.

Mary Todd Ashbrook

The Feb. 16 fire caused less property damage.

Ashbrook said she had a devoted crew to help her get the doors back open as quickly as possible.

"They worked from morning to night and did a month's worth of work in this short amount of time," Ashbrook said.

Leading the crew were Danny Copes, Carl Nunnelley and Earl Hurst. Also helping were Tim Wright, Mark Caldwell, Steven Craycraft and Lyle Hendricks.

"They have taken every measure on their part to see this doesn't happen again," she said. Midden honored for three years of 100% distinguished BY JOSH SHEPHERD, NEWS WRITER The Harrison County School Board joined with Southside Elementary School principal Steven Fowler to recognize a student for an outstanding academic achievement.

Anna K. Midden, a former Southside student, was given special recognition at the beginning of the regular school board meeting.

Midden achieved a Distinguished rating on the annual K-PREP exams in all subject categories in third, fourth and fifth grades. Fowler said that in his research. he could not find another documented time in the Southside school's history when a student had achieved such high scores.

Scoring that well consistently for three straight years is extremely difficult to do, Fowler said.

In recognition of her achievement, Fowler presented Midden with an award of recognition. Since she is the first documented student to have achieved consistent distinguished ratings, Fowler said that an award at Southside will be established in Midden's name.

Students who achieve this 'sweep' of Distinguished ratings while a Southside Elementary student will be presented with the 'Anna K. Midden' Award," Fowler said. The new board chair, Kristy Carey, presented Midden with the Southside award. It was the first action the board chair got to do in her official leadership capacity. Midden was accompanied by her parents, Richard and Maribeth Midden, her grandmother and other family members.

this, there will be complications. There always will be complications. The elevator is my biggest concern. We don't have a very good idea what is underneath the floor," Carroll said.

Originally the court anticipated that a grant would cover the costs to install an elevator for handicapped access, but that grant expired.

Carroll also said his company had previous experience working with Trace Creek Construction and felt their respective companies had a good working relationship. With the bid process out of the way, Carroll said renovation work could get underway by the middle of March. Completion of the project is targeted for December 2014.

On a related note, the open auction for surplus items at the courthouse is scheduled for Friday, March 14. Switzer and Associates will be in charge of the auction.

Election Day Concerns

Harrison County Clerk Linda Furnish informed the fiscal court that there are three bills being considered in the Kentucky legislature to allow public schools to have classes on Election Day, May 20.

Furnish said she sympathizes with the dilemma schools are facing with missed days in January and February.

However she and many Kentucky county clerks oppose this legislation because 2014 is a local election year. "Other elections have a low voter turnout. But local elections usually attract over 70 percent of the registered voters,"

Furnish said. Several Harrison County schools house two and three voting precincts each, she said. Most of those precincts are traditionally located in school cafeterias, she

"There is likely to be heavy voter turnout in May. Having a regular school day mixed with heavy voter turnout could add an unnecessary element of confusion to one of the most important days for U.S. citizens - the exercise of their right to vote,' Furnish said.

It will take state legislation to allow Election Day to be used as a regular school day. Furnish requested that magistrates contact Rep. Tom McKee and Sen. Walter Blevins and urge them to keep Election Day a time when schools are closed.

"That is if legislation has not already been passed," Furnish added. In other business, the fiscal court:

 Approved the purchase of an historic marker from the Cynthiana-Harrison County Chamber of Commerce for $120. Pat Grenier, executive director of the Cynthiana-Harrison County Chamber of Commerce, said that the organization is adding site markers as an enhancement to their popular Battle of Cynthiana Driving Tour.

Businesses will have an opportunity to sponsor these markers, but the Chamber is giving first opportunity to sponsor a marker to the county and city.

The county agreed to sponsor the marker that will be located in front of the Harrison County Courthouse.

Community Service pro-Magistrates approved Copes' motion to give part-time community service supervisors a 50-cent per hour raise.

had a raise in five years. In the Parks and Recreation report, magistrates approved a pay raise to Tracy Markland in recognition of his expanded duties within the department.

 Due to significant savings in the current Recreation department budget, Magistrate Frank Henson said the recreation board approved the purchase of surveillance cameras at the city hall gymnasium and a computer monitoring system. The system costs an estimated $4,000. Henson said the cur-

Attorney Bradley Vaughn said a final notice was being sent to owners of the decaying store in Oddville. The owners, he said, have delinquent property taxes from 2012 and 2013, making it easier for the court to condemn the property and destroy it.

Funerals as Unique as Your Life

The joy of living means different things to different people. A funeral or memorial service should celebrate the choices made, the relationships shared, and honor the memory of your loved one.

Why You Should Plan Ahead

It's a thoughtful gesture to those you love, and a way to let go of anxieties about the future. You'll be more relaxed, knowing your plans are made and in the hands of reliable friends or family.

Nearly six decades of harmony on the Hymn Sing

Hymn Sing regulars bring old-fashioned gospel to listeners every Sunday

In the move from the old log building to WCYN's current location on Main Street, Patty Drake came across a reel-to-reel audio tape stored in a closet. Curious about what, if anything, was recorded on it, she had a friend transfer the recording to a compact

That the recording was of a broadcast of the Harrison County Hymn Sing from back in the early 70s or 60s was not that surprising. It was even pleasant to hear host Roscoe Bedford's voice announcing the beginning of the Hymn Sing.

But it was a highly ironic coincidence to hear Bedford introduce Drake's in-laws as the evening's singers.

"The singers that evening were from the Curry United Methodist Church where Jim [Drake] grew up. There was his father and grandfather and other members of his family in the choir," Patty Drake said.

The coincidence becomes all the more astonishing when considering that the tape recording could have come from almost any one of the thousands of Harrison County Hymn Sing shows that have happened in the last 57 years.

During this interview, Drake smooths out a worn sheet of notebook paper containing the names of musicians and singers who gave their time to the Harrison Hymn Sing.

The Drake family legacy in Harrison County belongs to her husband. Jim Drake was born and raised in this area. Patty came to Cynthiana with her husband after growing up and working in the funeral business in Louisville.

"When Jim and I moved to Cynthiana, it got out that I could sing and play piano. Like most everyone else that's been associated with the hymn sing, I agreed to perform one Sunday a month," Drake said.

That one Sunday a month eventually became two, then three and before she knew it, she was showing up every Sunday evening to help with the show.

In the decade or so since she has been a regular fixture at the hymn sing and, after Bedford's death, the Hymn Sing has been something of an extended family affair for her.

"There is something about this show that has made it such a fixture in this area. It's exactly like when we heard my husband's family singing — the Hymn Sing goes back generations," Drake said.

When Bedford passed away in 2000, many thought his death would be the end of the show. But the show's many listeners called in demanding that the show continue.

"One of our regular listeners moved out of the WCYN broadcast area, but even though she cannot hear the show, she still calls in to request Where the Roses Never Fade," Drake

Nearly six decades have passed since the Harrison Hymn Sing first broadcast its show. It has moved from the third floor of the Harrison County Farmers Deposit Bank Building to the historic log building to its contemporary office location on Main Street.

Many of this area's most talented and beloved gospel musicians — regulars of the Harrison Hymn Sing have been called to join Bedford in that greater gospel hymn sing in the time the hymn sing loses someone, there always seems to be another to step up and fill the space.

"Even with the popularity of rock-based and pop religious music, there has always been a place for old-time gospel music. The songs have been passed down for generations and they still endure," Drake said.

Her granddaughter, Ashley, has been going to the radio station and sitting in on the Hymn Sing since she was in a baby seat.

"It really is something of a tradition that is passed on to people. I'm convinced that one of the main reasons this show has lasted is because we focus on traditional music," Drake said.

It is likely true. The show does not preach nor feature a message of any kind, except as a celebration of the enduring power of Christian gospel music.

The current monthly lineup of Hymn Sing performers includes Charles and Ollie, a husband and wife duo who stepped in after Russell Ray Fryman passed away. The show usually features Drake, Carl Goodman and Jerry Watkins.

The second Sunday of the month, Joy Bounds, a group from Pendleton County, performs.

"This group performs all day at nursing homes as they make their way here for their appearance on the Hymn Sing," Drake

The third Sunday, the popular local bluegrass band Thunder Ridge performs. The fourth Sunday is the Bluegrass Gospel Travellers. The Union Baptist Singers will perform if there is a fifth Sunday in the month, Drake said.

It can be a challenge fitting all the performers into the studio space, especially for those groups that bring their own instruments.

But it always seems to work itself out. And even though the sound may not be as polished as a studio recording, the one thing each and every singer can feel is the tradition and approval of all the singers that have performed before on the Hymn Sing.

Who knows what singers will pick up the lead when the Hymn Sing turns 100.

The Harrison County Hymn Sing runs every Sunday at 5 p.m. on WCYN 1400 AM.

Orchard care starts now

As summer fruit begins to ripen, or should I say rot, the calls start coming in.

orchardists Home Kentuckiana are at wits end as they watch their apples, peaches and pears do little more than fall from the tree in a spotted, bruised or petrified state.

Managing orchard trees isn't for the hands-off gardener; it takes effort to have healthy productive trees and that effort starts now.

Fruit trees need pruning, fertilization and some protection from a myriad of insect and disease problems that can cause leaf spotting, poor fruit set, mal-formed fruit or rotten fruit when it is all said and done.

February is all about pruning and fertilization.

Get the trees fed and in shape before they break dormancy.

Pruning styles evolved out of the need to keep trees a manageable size while maximizing the

Today most commercially produced fruit trees are grafted onto dwarf rootstock so the job of pruning is not as overwhelming. Dwarf is a relative term, of course, but dwarf rootstock is advantageous if with the goal is a quality harvest. They are easier to work with. Other pruning techniques address the issue of pest control: Better air circulation and light penetrations help to reduce many insect, fungal and bacterial problems common in the orchard.

Peach trees take on a vase shape with the center pruned out; apples take on a whorled, scaffolding of three to four main branches; pears are similar to apples but you allow six to eight main branches. Pears and apples can have their main leader headed-off (cut back to the next lateral branch) when the trees reach about 10 feet.

To fine-tune the pruning of apples and pears, you must thin

The spurs are the little stubs on main branches that grow about one-fourth of an inch each year.

Jeneen Wiche

Foliage and flower emerge from these spurs, in alternating years.

Thin these spurs and you get better spacing and larger fruit.

We have a mostly organic philosophy for the food we grow to eat. We have transitioned from fertilizing the orchard with the standard ammonium nitrate to using something that packs a little less of a punch. We will continue to provide nutrients to the trees. Instead of using one-eighth (pears), one-sixth (tart cherries), or one-fourth (apples) of a pound of ammonium nitrate per year of growth (not to exceeds 3 pounds) we are using cottonseed meal (it delivers nitrogen quickly) and fish meal (it delivers trace nutrients and nitrogen slowly).

Fertilize your fruit trees now for the added energy needed to break dormancy, push leaves and bloom.

Also, before your trees break dormancy an application of dormant oil will go far in controlling certain insect pests.

The time is ripe in late February or early March.

We need to watch the progress of the trees, the outside temperature and chances of rain when planning an application. Trees must be dormant if you are using dormant oil. Temperatures must remain above 40 degrees, with no rain in sight for at least 48 hours.

The spray regime gets more complicated as the season progresses because fungal, bacterial and pests show up as the leaves unfurl and the fruit begins to Contact your County Extension service and request more detailed information about caring for your home orchard (and selecting compatible varieties).

The timing, type and application of pesticides is quite exacting for it to work properly and safely.

Another important consideration when selecting varieties is disease resistance and length of the growing season.

Most fruiting trees require a minimum of days considered "frost-free" and a minimum of days where temperatures are between 45 and 32 degrees.

The chilling period allows for required dormant period and thus affects bud set. The minimum frost-free day requirement relates to the length of time needed to reach maturity.

These variables are why you should purchase fruit trees from people who know what they are talking about. For example, apple varieties that are recommended by the University of Kentucky because they show good disease resistance and are suitable to our climate include Pristine, Redfree, Dayton, Liberty, Spartan, Jonafree, Pixie Priscilla. SirPrize. Crunch, GoldRush Enterprise, Sundance.

Cross pollination is necessary so get two different varieties (SirPrize is not a pollinator, good fruit but sterile pollen). The easiest of all the fruit to grow and to enjoy remain, in my experience, the Asian pear including the varieties Hosui, Shinseiki One dormant oil application is all these trees get and the fruit is typically clean as a whistle.

The bottom line with fruit trees is this: Get disease resistant varieties, use dormant oil if nothing else and harvest fruit with a paring knife nearby. One blemish does not make fruit inedible. Cut it out or eat around it.

HCHS speech team takes first in team efficiency at state tournament

The HCHS speech team received first place in team efficiency in the state at the KESDA speech tournament last weekend.

The following team members competed: Ērin Bradford, Shepard, Harry Smith, Kellsie Kennedy, Wylie Caudill, Alycia Schaum, Ross Smith, Jared Thomas, Amber Schools, Jacob Sanders, Marie Bowen and Katie Stein.

The team earned an average of 25 points per competitor making them the most efficient team in the state.

"They also earned a fourth place overall, which is amazing considering that the team took only 12 students to KESDA and the team that took third place had almost three times the number of students competing," said Harrison County coach Laura Sanders.

The following students won individual awards out of over 750 entries:

Erin Bradford: 1st in declamation, 6th in oratory, quarter finalist in broadcasting and Lauren Shepard: 2nd place in broadcasting, semi-finalist in declamation. Harry Smith: 5th place in prose, semi-finalist in duo interpretation. 1st place in Ross Smith: expository speaking, 1st place in oratory, 3rd place in declamation, semi-finalist in duo interpretation, quarter-finalist in impromptu speaking. Jacob Sanders: 2nd Place in impromptu speaking, 5th place in improv pairs, semi finalist in oratory, semi finalist in prose, quarter finalist in Marie Bowen: 1st place in broadcasting, 5th place in improv pairs, quarter finalist in impromptu speaking.

Jared Thomas: semifinalist in extemporaneous speaking and semifinalist in impromptu speaking.

Katie Stein: semi-finalist in broadcasting, semifinalist in prose, quarterfinalist in poetry. In addition, Bradford,

Smith and Sanders competed in pentathlon. To compete for this award a student must do five events with at least one event each in the following categories: interpretation, limited prep and original prepared. These three students alone competed over 60 times from Thursday evening to Saturday evening.

HARRISON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL SPEECH TEAM

Out of three competitors, Smith placed 4th and Sanders placed 9th in the state.

"This is an awesome feat considering both students are only sophomores and the majority of the top 10 pentathlon placements went to senior competitors," the coach added.

The second state tournament will take place in March and the team will be taking nine members to competition.

All signs to be removed from state right of way

The District 6 Office the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet reminds folks that campaign and other temporary advertising signage illegally placed on state highway rights of way will be removed to maintain safety.

Rob Hans, chief district engineer for KYTC District 6 said, "With a local election gearing up, we tend to see a lot of signs placed along state right of way. Political signs and other advertising signs can block the view of drivers at intersections as they watch for oncoming traffic."

Kentucky law and Transportation Cabinet policy prohibit the placement of political or other advertising signs on state rights of way, including signs attached to utility poles or fences within the

Homeowners who maintain their lawn to the pavement edge should also keep yard signs behind the right of way

Enforcement of the sign prohibition can be difficult because right of way boundaries can vary by highway and location.

All signage should be behind sidewalks.

In areas without sidewalks, all signs should be behind the ditch line and outside areas commonly mowed or maintained by highway crews.

Often, utility poles will mark the edge of highway rights of way. On four-lane highways with controlled access or limited access, no signs should be placed on the highway side of the fence line or the fence.

Illegally placed signs picked up by highway crews will be moved to the state highway garage in each county and kept for five working days. Owners may claim them by showing identification and completing a claim form. Unclaimed signs will be discarded.

"Employees who are removing signs are acting in the best interest of all motorists and of maintenance crews," State Highway Engineer Steve Waddle said. "We appreciate the public's cooperation and understanding.

Two police officer recruits take oath at Tuesday's city meeting

BY BECKY BARNES, EDITO

Two police officer recruits were sworn in at Tuesday's Cynthiana City Commission.

Lewis E. Crump III and Justin F. Jett will begin classes at Eastern Kentucky University March 17 and will continue for 18 weeks. Police Chief Ray Johnson said that the new recruits will join a third recruit, Matt Royce, who should complete his training at the police academy in August.

The three recruits will bring the total police officers to 17 if all officers on the roll now remain with the department.

In other business, the commission:
• greed to purchase a $120 tourism

sign that would be part of the Civil War Driving Tour.

Chamber president James Smith told commissioners that the driving tour includes 14 stops and that a sign will be posted at each location.

He asked commissioners to sponsor the sign for the Old Covered Bridge. The sign would be placed on River Road.

This year marks the 150th anniversary of the second Battle of Cynthiana.

•Heard Commissioner Gary Brunker ask that Cynthiana motorists be aware of a horse and buggy that will be frequenting Cynthiana's streets.

Brunker said the family has purchased a farm on Shady Nook Pike. Their buggy meets all Kentucky requirements.

"We want to welcome them to the community," Brunker said.

•Commended the Harrison County wrestling team for sending a large contingency of wrestlers to the state tournament last weekend. •Heard Commissioner Roger Slade report that the city's salt supply is low.

"If we're in a pinch we can get some from a fellow agency" Slade said from a fellow agency," Slade said, noting that 250 tons of salt have been used in Cynthiana this winter.

• pproved a work order with HDR

Engineers for water treatment plant pretreatment program assistance.
• pproved a work order with HDR for review of Cynthiana's water treatment plant pretreatment limits.

Commissioner Jack Keith also noted that Cynthiana passed the second round of EPA requirements without violations.

Harrison County Water Association also passed, Keith said.

"There were a lot of people around us who had violations this time," Keith said.

•Met in executive session to discuss acquisition of real estate. Following the 40-minute closed session, Commissioner Billy Grayson made a motion to authorize the mayor to respond to a proposal on real estate that was not identified.

Donations needed to help surviving family from last week's fatal fire

BY JOSH SHEPHERD, NEWS WRITER

Friends and family members of Patricia Kearns, who was killed in a tragic house fire last week, have established a memorial fund to help her family who was made homeless by the fire.

Kearns was the only fatality in a house fire that occurred at 1273 Hick Hardy Road on the border between Nicholas and Harrison counties.

Not only did the fire claim Kearns' life, it also left her husband, daughter Hannah Callahan, son-in-law and two grandsons homeless. The home was a complete loss.

Amy Fitzwater, sister to the late Kearns, is one of the people who created the Kearns Family Fire Fund in reaction to the unanticipated tragedy.

"The family had property insurance, but it will only pay about half of the family's debt," Fitzwater said. The family was trying to achieve home ownership through a land contract, she added.

The family can use anything at the moment. Clothing, furniture, goods and other services, if possible.

"Right now the family is living from place to place while they sort out details," Fitzwater said.

Monetary donations to the fund can be made at any branch of Kentucky Bank. Be sure that checks are made out to the Kearns Family Fire Fund, she said.

Other donations are welcome as well. Contact Hannah Callahan, the late Kearns' daughter, at 859-298-9577. Donors may also contact Fitzwater at 859-953-1757.

Farmers' Market season opening meeting

The Harrison County Farmers' Market will hold the first general meeting of 2014 at the Harrison County Extension Office on March 10 at 6:30 p.m. Pizza, salad and drinks will be served during the meeting.

Since this will be our first meeting of the year we ask for past members plus anyone else considering joining this year to attend this meeting. Market business will be discussed along with training required for new and existing members.

We have a few changes to the bylaws for 2014 along with the discussion of important upcoming events this summer. It is essential to attend this meeting and get the market off on the right foot.

We ask that you call the Extension Office at 859-234-5510 if you plan to attend so meal arrangements can be made. The Harrison County Farmers' Market is open to anyone in the community. We hope to see interested producers at the meeting.

Bourbon Community Hospital presents

ASK the DR

With

Victor Lawson, MD, FACS, FRCS (C)

Otolaryngologist is a physician who specializes in treating diseases of the ear, nose and throat.

Are Facial Skin Cancer Screenings Important?

Cancer of the facial skin may exhibit a tremendously diverse clinical spectrum. The lesions may be tiny and indolent, or massive and aggressive.
 They may be of no cosmetic or functional importance, or they may result in a severe disturbance of appearance and function. The extensive destructive lesions that we see from time to time remind us that the tiny, minor lesions should not be neglected or treated in a haphazard fashion. The growths may be rough, ulcerated, cystic, dark, may bleed, or progressively increase in size.

Because the face is exposed for everyone to see, occasionally individuals with facial skin cancer will suffer from emotional disturbances in self image, either real or perceived.

Treatment of early skin cancers of the face varies from physician to physician, and from center to center. Treatment methods include surgical excision, skin curettage, electrodesiccation, cryosurgery, laser, topical chemotherapy, Moh's technique, and irradiation.

In my experience, surgical excision with reconstruction offers the optimum outcome for long term cancer cure, functional and cosmetic result. Cure rates for early facial skin cancers are generally very good reaching better than 98%. However, treatment of advanced facial skin cancers is more difficult and requires a well planned accurate surgical approach, and often a complex tissue reconstruction. Occasionally, adjuvant post-operative irradiation and/or perilesional chemotherapy may also be necessary.

Reconstructive techniques range from primary closure of the defect, geometric closure, w-plasties, z-plasties, transposition flaps, advancement flaps, advancement rotation flaps, and full thickness skin grafts when smaller to medium sized defects are repaired, to regional flaps, free flaps, and occasionally facial prosthesis when very large defects require repair.

I am Carla F. Harney, your Property Valuation Administrator of Harrison County. I am running for re-election to my third term as your PVA.

My husband Larry and I are proud to be able to call Harrison County our home. It is a wonderful community in which to live, work and to have raised our family.

We have three sons, Matthew and wife Rachel, Brandon and wife Megan, and Jonathan. We have five grandchildren, Conner, Cooper, Mckenzie, Bryce and I am an active member of the First United Methodist Church and I serve the citizens of this county, as your PVA, with the same integrity as I serve my church.

It is a privilege and an honor to have served the citizens of Harrison County as a Deputy PVA for 26 and a half years, and Property Valuation Administrator since December 2006. I take continuing education classes that are provided by the International Association of Assessing Officers and the Kentucky Department of Revenue Office of Property Valuation. These classes are designed to enhance my knowledge of property assessment and the laws that govern the duties that I and my staff are required to perform. I have received both the Certified Kentucky Assessor Designation and Senior Kentucky Assessor Designation.

I and my deputies, Kathi Patrick, Lauren Denniston, and Rebecca Paynter are here to serve you, the citizens of Harrison County. This County and I are fortunate in having such a qualified, knowledgeable, and personable group of employees to staff this office.

We have an open door policy and encourage you to stop by anytime. Our office hours are 8:00AM – 4:30PM, Monday through Friday. Our phone number is 234-7133.

Michelle Morgan

A lifelong Democrat of Harrison County seeking election for Harrison County Clerk.

Hello Harrison County! Many of you may already know me but as I am running for the upcoming Harrison County Clerk position I'd like to tell you more about myself.

I am proud to be born and raised here in Harrison County. I am the daughter of Tracy Milner and Rodney Milner. My mother worked as a Secretary for Cabinets For Families and Children. My father is a Carpet Installer for Lowes and has provided this service to many of you for 30 Years, building a well earned reputation of an extremely hard worker. I believe I share in this trait as I began work at the age of 16 at Lees's famous Recipe. I worked there and at Walmart Pharmacy. I then was a bank teller for two years at Harrison Deposit Bank until I began my career serving our community at the United States Post Office. I have been an upstanding employee for the United States Post Office for 9 Years and became a Postmaster in 2008. I have worked in several different post offices over the years and I have met so many people.

I love getting to know people and telling them a little about me or hearing a story from them. In 2011, I also began pursuing a profession in photography.

I thoroughly enjoy engaging the community and providing a service to others. I adamantly value hard work and diligence in any profession which I am eager to utilize when providing a service to you as the Harrison County Clerk.

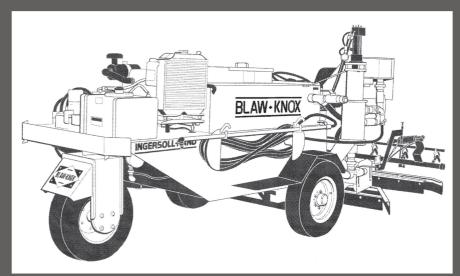

While I know the incumbent is perfectly capable of providing such a service with ample experience I believe it is essential for a community to renew itself and offer opportunity to upcoming generations. I understand this decision must be made carefully with much consideration and I firmly believe I am fit for this position morally and ethically. Given the chance I will gladly and diligently prove such.

I am the wife of Joey Morgan. We have one son and we are proud members of this community. I very much look forward to serving you and would greatly appreciate your vote this May.

Brown to give presentation on dealing with the dying

BY JOSH SHEPHERD, NEWS WRITER A local Harrison County church is welcoming a national expert to address the emotionally difficult process of maintaining a close relationship with friends or family in the final days or weeks before death. Rvland Brown, an expert in the study of death and dying, will be a special invited guest of Cornerstone Christian Church. He will be giving an acclaimed presentation entitled Looking from the Bed: How to Love and Serve the Dying on Saturday, March 1, from 6 - 8 p.m. at the Harrison County Extension Office.

One of the most emotionally challenging facets of a close relationship is dealing with the inevitable time of their death. Brown said in a candid interview with the Cynthiana Democrat last week

Even if the relationship is between family members, when a close person becomes terminal, people find it difficult to relate with them. They shrink back, Brown said, and have a tendency to avoid the

"They don't love that person any less. But conversations become difficult. Even though we know death is a natural process we all face, there is a tendency on the part of some people to avoid their friends," Brown

The situation can lead to feelings of personal

Brown's talk will address these concerns and other questions people have about the process of death.

"Even in a situation where we believe a person is unresponsive, that person can still feel and respond to touch. I think it's an important process for the person who is terminal, as well as the friend or family member staying on, to try and maintain a quality relationship," Brown said.

He notes that even among people with a strong spiritual background, who sing hymns and songs celebrating the transition between this life and the next, there is a natural tendency to fear death when it's in front of us.

Brown's presentation will cover the human inclination to deny death and on practical tips to serve those who are ter-

"Rather than reassuring them that they will get better and return to this world, this program will help people understand that sometimes people in the process of dying need other types of reassurtances," Brown said.

Brown is founder and owner of Gateway Seminars, a non-profit organization based out of Asheville, N.C. which specializes in presentations on issues and concerns on the process of death and dying.

'It is an experience we all will share, but it is one that we try hard to avoid. But we never stop loving people, so we should also never hide ourselves away from our loved ones.

"I hope that this presentation will go a long way toward relieving people's anxiety and opening themselves to their family and friends better when faced with this situation," Brown

Results from the Police Explorer Winterfest 2014 competition held in Gatlinburg

On Saturday, Feb. 8, 16 members of the Cynthiana Police Explorer Post 714 traveled to Gatlinburg, Tenn. to participate in the Winterfest competition. These explorers competed against 67 other Police Explorer posts in various competitions related to law enforcement as well as two individual shooting events. In total 3,105 Explorers and venturers participated in the weekend competitions. The following denotes how Post 714 placed in the Law Enforcement events as well as the individual shooting events.

The first event of the day for the Explorers was Crime Scene Investigation. Four of the explorers competed in the event as a team and placed 10th in the event. They were required to evaluate a crime scene and show proper evidence handling techniques in order to complete the event. These young men and women did a fine job and placed the best in our team events. Our second team event was titled "Unknown Trouble." The four Explorers had to respond to a call and evaluate the scene to determine what the problem was, then using their knowledge and skills learned in a year of training, handle the situation properly. These Explorers placed 12th in their event.

The third team event was "DUI Traffic Stop." The explorers only trained on this event the night before as other training has taken precedent this year. This group not only did well but placed 20th overall. This group contained Florian Carrof, an exchange student from France who wishes to join the French National Police. These young men and women earned respect for taking on a very difficult task and performing extremely well.

Capt. Austin Merriman took the physical agility test for the post this year and placed 34th overall on a very difficult test that includes running 100 yards with a 10 pound battering ram, pullups, situps, pushups, squats, shooting, and suspect identification. He did an excellent job.

Lt. Tiarra Hufford took the Written Exam which covers laws and statutes governing various states as well as federal law and case law. Hufford placed 48th in the written. This test is very difficult and she gave 100 percent. There were several Explorers who took part in the air rifle event and five were called back for a reshoot due to a 15 way tie for first place. Cynthiana Explorers placed 6th, 7th, 9th, 10th, and 12th overall in an event with over 400 shooters.

The final individual event was an Archery shoot. Sgt. Joanna Stephens, grandaughter of the late Dr. Stephens, competed in the event. Stephens shot a 99 out of a possible 100 points to become the overall Winterfest Champion. Stephens, who is a member of the Archery team at Harrison County High School, did Post 714 proud and will defend her title at Winterfest next year.

Congratulations to all the members of Cynthiana Police Explorer Post 714 for a job well done. Explorers will begin training for next years Winterfest which will be Feb. 6-8, 2015. Post 714 would like to thank Tom Ware Sr., Thomas Ware, and Laura Stephens for the use of their vehicles in order to make the trip comfortable and safer for the Explorers.

On behalf of owner James A. Brown, Thrift Food Mart is pleased to announce their grand reopening as a branded Gulf station. We are honored for this opportunity to bring to you a brand that has been recognized since 1901. And we thank each one of you for your patience during the renovation phase, allowing us to make this happen.

As Thrift Food Mart celebrated reopening, Gulf celebrated 100 years of service. In December 1913, Gulf opened for service the first "drive-in" gas station in this country. It was located on the corner of Baum Boulevard and St. Claire Street in Pittsburgh, PA. This spot was also known as "automobile row" due to the high number of dealerships that were located along this route. Before gas stations, gas pumps were found curbside in front of local businesses such as grocery stores, hardware stores, and even pharmacies. However, when cars lined up to refuel at these pumps, they created issues with traffic. The Gulf Oil station presented individuals with the convenience of pumps set up away from the street on a corner lot with an attendant refueling the cars.

A legend that pioneered an industry, Gulf acquired full national rights to the Gulf Oil brand from Chevron Corporation in 2010, twenty-six years after they participated in the world's largest merger of that time. Currently, Gulf Oil LP is headquartered in Framingham, Massachusetts with operations in 27 states and the Caribbean

James A. Brown has owned Thrift Food Mart for over 30 years. During that time, Thrift has provided convenience to its customers and strove to meet their growing needs. In doing so, we have made some additions for you. For the first time ever, Thrift is selling diesel fuel (by popular request). We will also be adding a new Fleet One in upcoming months as well as Bill-Pay service allowing customers to pay their gas, electric, water, telephone and many other bills at our store... just an added convenience for you. These are just a couple of the improvements that we have made as a way of saying "thank you" for the years that you have been loyal customers of Thrift Food Mart.

We look forward to serving our community with one-stop shopping, offering gas/diesel, breakfast/lunch in Big Daddy Jim's Diner, grocery and easy bill-pay with fast, friendly, reliable service. And so we welcome you back, our "Thrift family", and invite you to celebrate with us on this new and exciting journey.

Since merchants/customers recognized brands by the color of the tank wagon, Gulf chose orange because the hue wasn't being used by other refineries. It was later adopted on a company-wide scale and referred to as the "Sign of the Orange Disk".

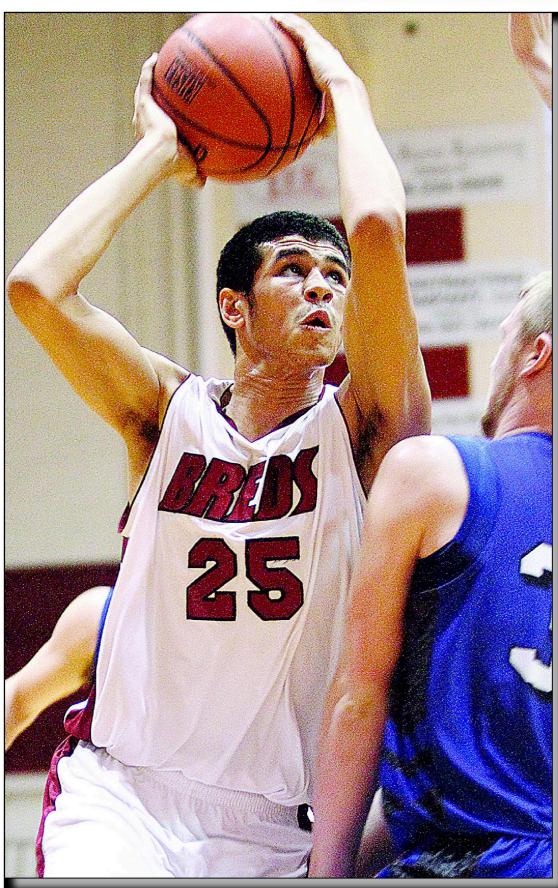

Thrift Food Mart received national recognition for top sales of Hunts Brothers Pizza in 2012 at New York's Time Square.

Fillies, Thorobreds battle Indians close on Friday

There are no moral victories especially after a team has led for a good portion of the game. However, when one considers the competition, Friday's games at Montgomery County might be considered a moral victory, at least for the Fillies.

The Fillies started Friday's game against the Lady Indians by playing with the same control as they have the last few games.

Coach Kim Furnish's squad controlled the tempo of the game and played some steady the end of the first stanza.

"I was happy with the way we controlled the tempo in this game," Furnish said after the game. "We got a little tired at the end of the game and made some mistakes, but overall we played pretty well.

Montgomery County played a little better in the second quarter and senior guard Erica Rogers made a couple of threes to cut into the Harrison County lead.

The turnover issue came back a little bit for the Fillies in the second period but still they held it together and led at

The Lady Indians ended the half with a nine-point run to make the score 18-17.

They continued the run in the second half as they came out much more aggressive on defense, hand checking the smaller, less physical Harrison County guards causing multiple turnovers early in the third quarter.

The Fillies, however, righted the ship and came back on a 10-to-six run to get within one point at 31 to 30 as the third period ended.

Senior Jordan Doram scored eight points in this quarter to help the Fillies withstand the Montgomery County rally. The game see-sawed back and forth between a three to five point deficit for the Fillies until midway through the final period when they tied the score at 36 points each.

Again, the two teams battled back and forth until, with about two minutes to play, the Lady Indians held a scant onepoint lead at 43 to 41.

this point, Montgomery County defensive pressure took its toll. The Fillies missed an easy shot or two and had some turnovers to allow the home-standing Lady Indians to pull out a 50 to 43

Junior Chelsea Ingram had seven of her 10 points in the final quarter as she and Doram scored all of the Fillies 13 fourth quarter points.

Doram closed out her regular season career with a 20-point, 16-rebound performance.

Rogers, sophomore Sarah Arnett and senior Caitlin Conyers led the Lady Indians with 11 points for the first two

Mattox finishes 7th in state wrestling meet

BY MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

Harrison County's 106-pound freshman Michael Mattox, finished seventh in his weight class Friday and Saturday at the KHSAA State Championship Meet held at the Kentucky Horse Mattox suffered a one-point loss in a decision on Friday night to Ansar Kurbanov of Louisville Iroquois to put him into the consolation bracket. He battled back Saturday winning three straight before losing to Dallas Ochsenbein of North Oldham in his fourth match of the day.

The gritty Mattox then came back in his last match to pin Devonta Turner of Trigg County in 1:24 to take seventh place.

Nathan Lopez also wrestled his way to the Saturday morning format in the 126-pound class by defeating three competitors on He pinned Trent Johnson of

John Hardin and Garrett Haggerty of Taylor County before winning a decision over Louisville Central's Davon Adams. Eventual champion David Carr of Woodford County eliminated Lopez with a pin.

Harrison County qualified 12 wrestlers, which is more than have ever qualified in one year.

Other than Mattox and Lopez, Brent Hudgins at 113 lbs., Chase Highlander at 120 lbs., Colton Mott at 132 lbs., Colin Coy at 152 lbs., Mason Fryman at 160 lbs., Brandon Williams in the 170 lbs. class, Clay Arthur in the 182 lbs. class, Mark

Taylor at 195 lbs., Kellon Williams at 220 lbs., and Dominic Walker in the 285 lbs. class competed for the Thorobreds.

Other than Mattox and Lopez, only Coy, Brandon Williams, Kellon Williams, and Dominic Walker won a match in this outstanding competition.

"We were happy to take as many wrestlers as we did," said Coach Luke Tucker. "We are awfully proud of Michael for finishing seventh. A break or two for some of the others and we would have scored better."

The Thorobreds finished 36th in the team scoring. Union County was first followed by Campbell County, Trinity, and Woodford Freshman Michael Mattox placed seventh in the KHSAA Wrestling State Tournament, held last weekend at the Kentucky Horse Park's Alltech Arena.

Mattox was one of 12 Thorobred grapplers to qualify for state and one of four to advance past the initial round.

MIKE'S MINUTE

One man's decision, sometimes

The last few Harrison County basketball games that I have watched and some games on television have brought me to this conclusion. The game is too difficult to officiate so let the players call their own fouls like we do in backyard and school ground games.

Or at least we used to when we played backyard and school ground games before hand-held electronic devices.

This would first eliminate the block/charge foul.

When was the last time someone stood under the basket and waited for someone to plow them over in a pickup game? It would eliminate the hand check that is not called though a point of emphasis this year.

In pick-up games, the offensive player just slaps the defender's hand hard enough that they either fight or he or she stops the hand checking.

I don't want to be too specific because as a softball official and a former football official for a long time, I know that Monday morning quarterbacking of officials is easy to do yet unprofessional for someone in the profes-

I also know that basketball is a very difficult game to call as the players have gotten faster, bigger, stronger and the officials, for the most part, have gotten older, slower, yet more experienced to hopefully balance the older, slower part.

But I do not like games that are decided by an official, either by something that they do not call or something that they do call

Let's say for instance, hand checking if allowed favors the stronger, more experienced player. If not called then it favors their team though no whistle is blown.

Something that really irritates me about hand checking is that now that the tournament has started most veteran observers of the game do not expect it to be called because we are in the post season.

Mike Aldridge

Heck, that is when it should be called especially since it was a point of emphasis.

The block/charge foul is the most difficult call I would say, but having never been a basketball official, I cannot say for certain.

I liken it to pass interference, which is a call that is made in front of everyone with an offensive or a defensive offender potentially. Few people know the rule but all think that they do.

I am not going to mention Tony Green, but how many of you thought that there was a chance on this earth that Duke was not going to get the call?

Have you ever watched a game that was played in Durham?

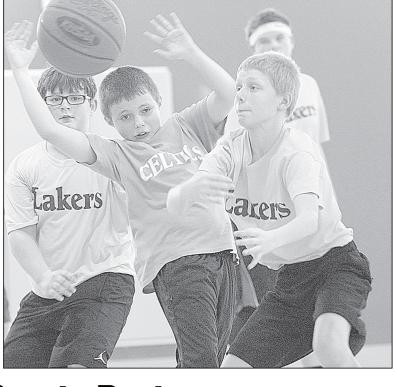

Jim Boeheim was a little out of bounds with his reaction, but the way he reacted may have had a lot to do with the previous call in the game that went against his man in a much more obvious charge.

Anyway, if the players were calling their own fouls, it would not have been an issue and Syracuse would have tied the game.

On a different subject, congratulations to all of the long suffering Dale Earnhardt Jr.

But to NASCAR, how long is a fan that is watching and or waiting for the race to be shown on television supposed to hang on before they give up?

The only way I knew that the race had resumed after the longest rain delay in history was when I checked my phone to see what time they were running the race on Monday.

Track athletes continue improvement at Mason Co.

Coaches Danny Simpson's and Robert Walker's Harrison County track runners traveled to Mason County for the third in the series of indoor track meets last Saturday.

Junior Kassidy Cook ran the second fastest all-time Harrison County at the 55M distance as she covered the distance in 9.35 seconds. Cook finished third in the event. She also ran the 55M dash in 8.10, which is also the second fastest for a Fillie at that distance.

The Thorobreds were represented by junior Derek Nunnelley and sophomore Colton Burus. The two ran the 55M hurdles with Nunnelley finishing sixth in 8.65 and Burus seventh in

This was an impressive effort for the junior in his second hurdle race and a major improvement for the sophomore over last year's time. The pair also ran the 55M dash with Nunnelley in 7.23 and Burus in 7.52.

'It was a good workout for these athletes," said Simpson. "It was only our second indoor meet of the year and the rust showed a little but we're encouraged by their performances."

The last indoor event for the Harrison County athletes is on March 8 in Louisville. The Mason Dixon Games will be run at the Fairgrounds Complex on that day. This event has long been considered the opening of outdoor track and the end of indoor for the season. There will be runners from several states competing.

> Final day for baseball signups is Saturday

Baseball and softball signups for Harrison County Parks and Recreation will continue through Saturday, March 1.

Signups will be taken for instruction league, t-ball, coach pitch, Little League, pony league and girls' softball.

Interested parties can sign up at the Parks and Rec office at City Hall or by calling director

Darrell Baxter at 234-7155.

Baseball Alumni looking for nominations for second class

Baseball season is near and that means it is time to get nominations in for the second class for the Cynthiana-Harrison County Baseball Hall of Fame. Applications must be completed and received before April 1, 2014, to be consid-

A requirement this season will be that all information must be completed, including year of graduation, life accomplishments after baseball and any college/lifetime achievements. Applications are provided on line at the Cynthiana-Harrison County Alumni Baseball Association website or will be provided upon request to any board member or by contacting Ron England via email at ron.england@ymail.

The second class will be installed on June 28 at the Cynthiana Elks Lodge at 6 p.m. with a social gathering at 5:30 p.m.

Tickets will be available for $15 per adult and $5 per child under the age of 10. All proceeds are placed in the Alumni Association Scholarship Fund. Scholarships are awarded to graduating Thorobreds baseball players to help further their education.

All applications are retained and considered for five years and any former Harrison County or Cynthiana High School baseball player is eligible. The nominee must have graduated 15 years before he can be nominated. An individual can nominate more than one person.

Indians

and 10 for the latter.

Conyers was voted the outstanding performer of the game for her scoring and especially for her defense. The turnover problem was the only part of the game where the Fillies did not do better statistically than the Lady Indians. Harrison County turned the ball over 22 times to 10 for Montgomery County. The Fillies led in rebounding by nine and made 13 of 17 free throws to Montgomery County's 11 for 19. The loss gives the Fillies a final regular season mark of 11-17 while Montgomery County finishes at 12-13. The Thorobreds game versus the Indians was almost more of the same from previous games. Harrison County took the lead early and carried the lead through the first three quarters.

One big difference was that Montgomery County scored nine of the first 11 points in the third period to take the lead at 27 to 26. This time, instead of going into a panic, the Breds rallied back to regain the lead and carry a 38 to 34 lead into the final period.

Only three people scored for the Breds in the first period as they dashed out to a 13 to 10 lead.

Dillon Pulliam and Trenton Thompson hit for a trey and D.J. Jenkins drove in for a basket as the first period was played on an even basis. The difference in the quarter was the four turnovers for the Indians to one for the Breds. Again, only three players scored for the Breds in the second period but they again outscored the Indians to take a 24 to 18 lead in to the halftime break.

Just like the Fillies game, the halftime talk inspired the Indians into playing much better defense to start the half.

They scored nine of the first 11 points to take a 27 to 26 lead over the Breds. But also like the first game, Harrison County roared back and scored seven unanswered points to go into a 33 to 27 lead.

The two teams played even for the remainder of the third period as the Thorobreds took a 38 to 34 lead going into the final period.

The two teams seesawed with the Breds taking a 47 to 44 advantage with about three minutes left Montgomery County ran out a five-point run to take the lead at 49 to 47. Harrison County tied the score on a Thompson basket with just over a minute left in the game. Unfortunately, this was the point in the game where the Thorobreds completely lost their poise and turned the ball over and took some bad shots The Indians scored the to 49. The Indians scoring was led by senior forward Deante Cisero, who last nine points to win 58 scored 18 points. Dillon Pulliam and Thompson scored 14 for the Thorobreds while guard Jenkins added 12. They were the only starters to score in the game. Harrison County finished the regular season with a 12-16 record while the win boosts Montgomery County to 25-2.

Breds, Fillies derail Engineers

Lady Engineers in home finale

BY MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

The final boy/girl home doubleheader Thursday night saw the Harrison County Thorobreds and Fillies matched up with their counterparts from Estill County High School.

The boys played first on this night and set the stage for a Harrison County sweep.

Junior guard D.J. Jenkins was the catalyst early as he sliced through the Engineers' defense for a couple of easy baskets in the final home game for the Harrison County seniors.

The four seniors all scored in the first quarter as Coach Larry Kendall gave them starting roles in their last night on the Hilltop.

Grant Carr hit a three pointer to stretch the lead after Jenkins' early baskets. Landon Palmer hit a free throw when he was fouled grabbing a rebound. Mason Ritchie also made a free toss and added a field goal later in the period. Four-year starter Dillon Pulliam added a field goal en route to becoming the fifth all-time leading scorer in school Pulliam passed Toke Coleman on the all-time list during the game on Thursday night. The senior's play led the Breds to a 16 to 6 lead at the end of the first period.

Estill County showed in the second period how they earned the 17-9 record this season, which that they came to the Hilltop sporting.

Senior guard Trevor Jenkins made eight of the Engineers' 16 second-quarter points as they cut into the Thorobreds lead. Estill County used an eight-to-five rebounding advantage in the quarter to slice the lead to 28 to 22 at halftime Pulliam came out of the dressing room from the break on fire as he buried three long treys to jump start the Thorobreds. Jenkins was still chipping in threes for Estill County as well but juniors Trent Thompson and D.J. Jenkins added 10 points to help the Thorobreds advance their lead to 12 by the end of the quarter. Harrison County's attack proved too much for Estill County in the final stanza. The Thorobreds outscored the visitors 24 to 8 during the last period to pull away to a 71

Sophomore Zack Pulliam came off the bench to hit three of four tries from the field to score eight points in the period.

"Estill County has a nice team," commented Coach Larry Kendall. "I believe that we were too deep and had too much size for them to contend with tonight."

The size advantage was apparent in the 28-to-22 rebound difference that Harrison County had for the The Thorobreds improve to 12-15 with the win while the Engineers fell to 17-10.

Both teams had two players in double figures as Trevor Jenkins had 15 and Trevor Jones added 13 for Estill County.

Jenkins led all scorers with 20 points for the Thorobreds while Dillon Pulliam finished with 18. Ritchie's seven rebounds led the Thorobreds for the night.

The nightcap was a treat for basketball lovers as they were treated to not only seeing senior Jordan Doram's last game on the Hilltop when she scored 27 points and grabbed nine rebounds, but saw Estill County's junior guard Kennedy Flynn.

The Lady Engineers were really never in the game, but Flynn's play was well worth the price of admis-

Landon Palmer gets fouled on his way to the basket last Thursday in the Thorobreds' half of a boy/girl double-

She hustled for loose balls and rebounds even when the outcome was no longer in doubt. She finished the game with 35 points and three rebounds from her guard position.

The Fillies wisely worked the ball into Doram from the start of the game and the 6-foot senior responded with 10 points in the first period.

Sophomore Madison Philpot chipped in with six as the Fillies rushed out to a 19 to 7 lead by the end of the first quarter.

Flynn had all seven of Estill County's points.

The second period was little different as Doram again made all but one of her field goal tries and both of her free throws for eight more points. This time her back up was junior Whitney Gray, who made six points as the Fillies led 33 to 18 at the half.

Flynn again made seven and junior Bethany Hall added four for the Estill County points. The Fillies dominated the first half as they had only three turnovers, out rebounded Estill County 17 to 11 as well as out-scoring them. Flynn again made seven points in the third quarter as the Fillies stretched the lead to 20 points by the end of the quarter 49 to 29.

Harrison County went away from what had made them successful somewhat by taking nine three-point shots in the quarter instead of working the ball inside

The Fillies made only two of the three point attempts, but still outscored the Lady Engineers in the stanza 16 to 11

Flynn went to work in the last period scoring 14 points, but the game was already in the Fillies' win column.

Doram and Haley Perkins played their last home game on the Hilltop and made it a good one with the 60 to 45 fina score in Harrison County's favor.

Junior Chelsea Ingram was also in double figures as she made three of her three-point attempts plus a free throw for 10 points.

Philpot added nine points and 10 rebounds in a solid effort. The win improved the Fillies to 11-16 while Estill County dropped to 6-19 for the vear

Harrison County Band students participate in EKU Clinic

A concert on Saturday, Feb. 22, was the culminating event for 13 Harrison County Band students who participated in the 25th Annual Eastern Kentucky University Honor Band Clinic. Students were selected for participation in the clinic based, in part, on director nominations. The clinic weekend began on Thursday evening with a round of auditions that determined seating for those selected to participate.

After auditions, six students had been selected to represent Harrison County in the top Honor

Senior flautists Teresa Sharp and Alyssa Fryman, senior clarinetists Tonya Martinez and Ratcliffe, senior Ellie trombonist Luke Graves, and junior trumpeter Stephen Yarnell were conducted by composer Dr. Andrew Boysen Jr. in the top Honor Band. Seven other students were placed in the other two clinic bands: Junior Ethan Rognstad and sophomore Zane Couch were conducted by David Webber. Freshman Brady Posey, sophomores Josh Graves and Branden Cathey, and seniors Courtney Jackson and Mason Northcutt were conducted by Robert "Dee' Bishop.

"All three groups were outstanding,' ' said band John director Merz. "These kids were so well behaved and they had an opportunity to make music and make friends with kids from across the state. It was a great weekend!"

In addition to the clinic bands, the students participated in masterclasses given by EKU faculty, heard the EKU Wind Ensemble perform, and were given the opportunity to audition for music department scholarships.

SANDERS

The Western Kentucky University forensics team won the 2014 Kentucky Forensic Association state tournament on Saturday, Feb. 22, keeping alive a 24-year streak that began in 1991. WKU was triple-crowned the team individual events sweepstakes state champion, the team debate sweepstakes state champion and the overall team sweepstakes state champion. This year's tournament, hosted at Gateway Community and Technical College in Florence, featured teams from all across the Commonwealth participating in speech and debate events. The team also collected 13 individual state championships, including Jackson Sanders, a freshman from Cynthiana, state champion in communication analysis, second in after-dinner speaking and fourth in dramatic interpretation.

Choose to renew now

Proverbs 2:6-8 says, "For the Lord gives wisdom; From His mouth come knowledge and understanding; He stores up sound wisdom for the upright; He is a shield to those who walk uprightly; He guards the paths of justice and preserves the way of His saints."

I was working on my computer one day and all of a sudden a pop-up from my virus protection came on my screen with two buttons that said, "Renew Now or Renew Later" in big letters. "You have 30 days of protection left" were in smaller letters. I instantly pushed the Renew Later button; this went on every week until I had one day left.

A familiar word in the internet industry that has become a big business is "firewalls."

These firewalls are software we put on our computers, and are designed to install barriers between you and hackers on your hard drive.

Their purpose is to block access to your sensitive files, financial records and all your personal data stored on your hard drive. Firewalls have the ability to filter out any unwanted intrusions that would invade your privacy and help protect you from credit card fraud and identity theft.

Before the computer age we knew about firewalls.

Buildings had firewalls that were designed to slow down and stop the spread of fires, and even in the forests firewalls were made by clearing out large areas for the same purpose.

We know that Satan uses the world and our flesh we know that Satan uses the world and our Hesn continually to seek ways to intrude into our daily lives, undermine our faith, cause us to compromise our values and steel our identity as children of the most high God.

God knew this was going to happen.

Jesus said he was sending us a comforter, a helper, The Holy Spirit to take up residence in us to serve as our firewall.

The firewall of Jesus blocks access from the tactics of Satan to stop the brushfires of temptations, to be on watch interceding on our behalf, and equipping us with the Armor of God so we can stand firm against all these intrusions.

Ephesians 6:16 is saying that in every battle we need faith as our shield in order to stop the arrows that Satan has aimed at us.

So, Jesus is our perfect firewall. He shelters us under His wings, He is able to separate us from our sins, and most of all rescue and save us from Hell's torment in eternity.

This firewall protection was very costly.

Let's go back to my story with the decision to renew now or renew later.

I kept putting off renewing my protection. Why I don't know. I knew I needed it and I also knew it was going to cost me something. Was it the cost? Was it taking the time? Did I think I could do it without the protection? Why would I take the chance?

How often do we do that with God? We know we can't do it without Him, and yet at times we have the same behavior and put Him off and think we can renew later and take the risk of being hacked or find we have been invaded.

Even though the cost was great for this protection

Even though the cost was great for this protection, God has made it available to all, free of charge. It's a free gift to you. Psalm 3:3 "But you, O Lord, are a shield for me."

So, Renew Now!

Cake, white lies and the truth

Have you heard about the Baptist White Lie cake?

Don't know if this is a true story or not, but it seems that Alice Grayson of Tuscaloosa, Ala., had signed up to bake an angel food cake for the Baptist Church Ladies' Group bake sale — Alice was known for her light, fluffy, perfect angel food cakes.

However, this one came out disfigured and lopsided, and with no time to bake another, Alice panicked. Everyone expected one of her perfect cakes! So, she improvised and put a roll of toilet paper in the center of the cake to prop it up, then covered it with frosting and delivered it to the church for the bake sale before heading on to work.

Meanwhile, she called her daughter with instructions to buy the toilet paper-filled cake so no one would know that her cake was less than her usual perfect.

Except someone else got the cake first.

Alice was beside herself with worry, positive that when word got out exposing her that she would be ridiculed and ostracized, especially at church among the ladies' group.

The next day, Alice attended a luncheon at the home of one of the Baptist ladies. This woman, a descendent of the founding families of Tuscaloosa, was kind of a snob and often made Alice feel judged.

When it came time for dessert, the snobby lady made a huge production out of presenting a beautiful cake, which Alice recognized as the one she had brought to the bake sale.

Just as Alice leapt up from her chair to confess, the mayor's wife exclaimed, "What an exquisite cake!"

The snobby woman, with cake knife in hand ready to present the mayor's wife with the first slice, gushed and replied with feigned humility, "Thank you. I baked it myself."

I do love a good cake story. I also love a good gotcha story, especially when it involves snobby people other than me.

But more than that, I love a good illustration that shows the folly of pretending, and we religious people are oh, so guilty of that, aren't we? One of our biggest follies is pretending that we're better than we really are — holier and more humble, more obedient, more pious.

I think it comes from a sense of insecurity. If Christ in me is supposed to transform me, then why do I still struggle with (name your sin — addiction, anger, bitterness, lying, etc.)?

If I don't see progress being made, then what? I want God to get good PR, so I pretend that I'm better than I am, not in a snobby way, but in a scared way. I don't want people to think that God hasn't changed me, because he has—just not as much as I had hoped he would.

Because I don't want to be a bad advertisement for him, I pretend I'm holier and more humble, more obedient, more pious, more whatever it is I think a Christian should be.

I remember being interviewed by a woman who had called to determine my suitability as a retreat speaker for her church women's group. One of her questions was, "How much time do you spend in the Word every day?"

My face felt hot and my stomach knotted because I knew the truth would expose me as a fraud. So, I forced a lighthearted laugh and said, "Not nearly enough," and left it at that. The conversation ended shortly after that and I never heard from her again, to my relief.

I want so badly to present a beautiful cake, but the truth is, any cake I make is going to have toilet paper inside propping it up, so to speak. I suspect that's true of yours, too.

Maybe the better even the best thing we can do

Maybe the better, even the best thing we can do for each other is to be honest and upfront about ourselves and not try to be better than we are.

The Bible tells us to "consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds" (Hebrews 10:24), which I interpret as a kind and gentle way of relating to one another, a way of encouraging each other, of holding each other up, bearing one another's burdens.

My pastor often talks about us as the church walk-humility and honesty, of the stronger holding up the weaker among us and of no one despising another's weakness.

Maybe if we stop measuring ourselves against each other, and instead rely more on the grace of God

ing to heaven together. It's a beautiful picture of true to fill in the gaps, maybe we actually would become better.

That deserves a piece of cake, don't you think?

PAST

In the month of May, 1868, a group of about 60 citizens met to establish a new burial ground for Harrison County, Kentucky. Committees were formed to find suitable grounds for the Cemetery, and to raise approximately $13,000 dollars by subscription to stock. The grounds committee returned with a recommendation to purchase a 40 acre tract of land for $200 dollars per acre. A charter was obtained in the winter of that year with dedication services on the 4th of November 1868. The charter declared the Battle Grove Cemetery to be a non-profit corporation and was to be governed by a board of 7 trustees each serving 5 year terms. J.S. Withers was an original trustee & director of the cemetery. (the Little Withers boy monument) see related story). The by-laws, rules and regulations still govern the operation of the Cemetery some 146 years later. Over these many years the Cemetery has had only 10 superintendents, which reflects a dedication to the cemetery and the community.

PRESENT

Monuments and people draw the historians to Battle Grove with the Cemetery probably having more unique monuments and statues for its size than most Cemeteries in the country. In the early years of Battle Grove, family units were disinterred and moved to these grounds with large family plots and erecting many beautiful statues and monuments which display a lot of symbolism unique to cemeteries. We continue to plant trees, concentrating on flowering trees, bulbs, flowers, etc. An arboretum has been established and identifies 25 different species of tress. We have (friends of Battle Grove) auxiliary that donate hours of work, in the office, and with the flowers on the grounds. There are those that have donated money to assist with the grounds, beautification projects.

FUTURE

The trustees have purchased additional land bringing the total to over 100 acres, giving the community the assurance of many years of service from Battle Grove. The perpetual care commitment is in place to maintain these grounds in the years ahead. Battle Grove will be striving to highlight the history, monuments, and people with published brochures available to the public. As we have strove to meet the needs of the community for 146 years, we have held the price of lots steady for several years. Lots can be purchased on a payment plan if desired paying 1/4 down and having a 12 month and a 24 month plan. Memorials can also be purchased at Battle Grove in remembrance of a loved one. Proceeds of monument sales are considered income for the cemetery and help with cemetery expenses. The latest effort to meet the community needs is the addition of a 60 niche columbarium. The columbarium as shown is placed behind the meditation building and is now available to meet the needs of those considering cremation. The columbarium is designed to be used as a single niche unit or can be a double unit depending on the size of the urns.

The Withers Boy

Not to far from the Gate House in Battle Grove Cemetery, is located a memorial in the likeness of a schoolboy carved in marble. The Withers Boy has been the subject of many stories relating to the cause of his death. Some of these stories include drowning, a fall, eating green apples, maybe an accident at school. Mr. and Mrs. James S. Withers lost their first 3 children all boys at very young ages. Roger died 1863 at one year old. Hood died 1865 at the age of 2. Stanley, being the oldest died 1869 at the age of 10. The placement of the "Withers Boy" sculpture we believe is to memorialize all three of the boys but due to their ages is without a doubt the likeness of Stanley. Stanley died on June 17th, 1869 after an illness of five days.

REMEMBERING AND RESTORING

When Joe and Carol Millham bought the former Camp Chickasaw, over 40 years had passed. The condition of the former cabin where the kids stayed looked unsalvageable. Joe Millham, however, found the basic structure of the building solid enough to use as foundation for his new home and the showroom for Mountain Rest Taxidermy.

There is very little evidence left of the old Camp Chickasaw on Moore Road in the area of Harrison County locals refer to as "little Harrison."

The farm, which used to be owned by Herbert Allen Moore's family in the early 1960s, is now the home of Joe and Carol Millham. It is also home to their business, Mountain Rest Taxidermy, which they transported from their former home in the New York state Hudson Valley area.

The farm is as remote as one can get in eastern Harrison County. Even now, traffic on Moore Road is mostly from farmers and homeowners.

But it was precisely because of its distance and remote location that made the Moore family farm the perfect location for a summer camp.

This was no ordinary camp. Every year, most Cynthiana kids spent at least a week or more at some kind of summer camp. For most, it was a week at 4-H camp in Carlisle or a trip to Camp Kysoc in Carrollton. ROTC students attended a summer camp as well. But for a small population of Cynthiana children, even modestly priced camps were beyond their means.

For several dozen young teenagers, they assumed that camp was not going to be a part of their summer experience. That was until several business and community leaders got together and founded Camp Chickasaw.

According to Herbie Moore, the camp was the brainchild of Charlie Tribble, a teacher and principal at Connersville High School, who solicited the support of local business leaders.

eaders. Moore donated the use Harrison" which came equipped with buildings that could be converted to bunkhouses. The farm didn't have much more than fields, ponds and wilderness, but it was wired for electricity, Moore said.

Including himself, Moore said the camp attracted support from several community leaders who agreed to serve on the camp's board of directors.

"Camp Chickasaw got terrific support from all the local businesses, in fact," said Moore. "Lerman Brothers donated hand-stenciled t-shirts that said 'Camp Chickasaw' on the front. Local grocers donated food for our meals. We bought an old school bus and hand-painted the camp's name on the side and front."

Though the Moore family owned the farm out in "little Harrison," it was not set up to be a camp.

The only buildings on the Moore farm was a tobacco barn, an unusual concrete grain silo, and a stout double drive-through corn crib.

Clay Adams, a local

Cynthiana builder, volunteered his time and took some high school boys out with him to the camp for several weeks to convert the corn crib into a cabin for the boys to sleep.

Billy Bell was one of the young teenagers who assisted Adams with the work at Camp Chickasaw.

"The farm was back in the country. It wasn't too far from the Licking River," Bell said. Billy's brother, Jimmy, would eventually be one of the first campers and Billy was glad to make the place nice for them.

"In the spring, Clay [Adams] took me and some other boys to fix up Herbert Allen The corn crib was about the size of a small barn," Bell said.

They raised the middle of the corn crib to floor level. Then the builders configured the barn for several rows of bunk beds and added on a makeshift kitchen for the meals.

"Mr. Moore likes to downplay his role in doing things for the community, but he was out there helping us make that place a nice campsite," Bell said. "I appreciated it, too, because my brothers were going to be campers out there."

"We set it up to look like an old western bunkhouse," Moore added.

Within a month or so, the rough bunkhouse was ready for the campers.

"Clay let me know that they had finished setting up the buildings for the campers. I took my five children out to spend the night in the bunks, just to see what it would be like out there. It was still the springtime, so it was a pretty cold night out there. But it was exciting to see the bunkhouse completed," Moore said.

Fifty years after the fact, Moore is a little unclear on the year in which the camp started, though he estimates it around 1962 or '63.

"The purpose was to give all Cynthiana children a camping experience" Moore said experience," Moore said.

afford to attend one of the other camps in the region could attend Camp Chickasaw free of charge. That invitation went out to all children, Moore said, regardless of their race.

In fact, race was never a concern or question. Photos of Camp Chickasaw campers in the Cynthiana Democrat show as many young black children as white.

Jimmy Bell was 10 years old and one of the first group of campers to receive an invitation to attend Camp Chickasaw.

"Looking back on it as an adult, I guess having black and white kids at a summer camp in the early 60s was a radical idea. But we never thought a thing about that. We were all just excited about going to camp," Jimmy Bell said.

Organizers identified families in housing projects with young boys 8 - 12 years old. Cards were sent inviting the children to attend the camp.

"There wasn't any mention that we were invited because of our family's income. But we didn't have a whole lot in those days. But with Camp Chickasaw, we were just invited to go out there for a few days to have fun," Bell said.

The kids boarded the bus in the parking lot of the Marshall School and journeyed out to the campsite.

Camp Chickasaw's campers had a greater experience "roughing it" in the Harrison County wilderness than most kids did at older and more established camps.

"We had electricity, but there was no running water. And we definitely didn't have any hot water," Bell said. "What the camp had was a big water tank and a string we pulled. We all took cold showers every night."

Camp counselors were under the direction of Charlie Tribble. Among them was Larry Gray, Timothy Humphries and Bobby Jenkins, Bell said.

There were also plenty of community people who came out to the camp and helped with activities and field trips.

Although it was set up quickly, the five days that campers spent at Camp Chickasaw included experiences in target and skeet shooting, archery, swimming at the city pool for half a day, hiking and fishing down at the Licking River.

"Tribble and our counselors had us up early and ran us all day," Bell said. "By nighttime, we'd pretty much fall asleep."

The kids were also taught about positive ways of settling arguments. Though if it did come to outright fighting, Bell said, the counselors would put both kids in a set of boxing gloves and let us go a few rounds to settle down.

Bell is past retirement age, but he still holds memories of his days at Camp Chickasaw as precious. He keeps pictures of those times with him. And he is not surprised that other campers feel the same about their experience at that camp.

The camp did not exist long.
Herbie Moore estimates that the camp lasted about four seasons, maybe five at the most.

But in the decades since, he has encountered several former Camp Chickasaw campers and they have all commented on their memories of Camp Chickasaw.

"I think that our camp had a positive impact at an important time in these kid's lives," Moore said.

It is ironic, and perhaps even symbolic, that even though Camp Chickasaw ended after only a few brief years of life, the campsite itself continued to exist. And thanks to the Millhams, the old campsite has been give new life.

Camp Chickasaw endures...

The Millhams had no idea that they were preserving a legacy when they bought property where Camp Chickasaw once stood and used the remains of the camp cabins as the foundation for their small business.

The farm had changed hands several times since Moore owned it in the early sixties. It was just an odd coincidence that the Millhams even came into ownership of the property.

"My wife, Carol, and I were scouting out places in the region to move. We were staying with friends in Harrison County and traveling to different properties when we noticed this property for sale at a local realtors," commented Joe Millham.

When the Millhams visited the property, the converted double corn crib that had served as the Camp Chickasaw cabin was in ruins.

But when Millham took a closer look at the building, he saw that the structural framework was intact and strong.

He used that frame as the foundation upon which to locate the showroom for Mountain Rest Taxidermy.

"I had no idea about the history of the old building, or the sentiment attached to it, until I met Mr. Moore and he told me about the camp," Millham

Using his own lumber mill, Millham put new life back into the old buildings.

"I hate seeing old barns and buildings fall. Especially when they were well-built to begin with," he said. Without even knowing about its brief history, the Millham's have restored a place of cherished memories for a handful of Harrison County men and given it new life which he is glad to share.

CAMP CHICKASAW CAMPERS FROM 1964 — Quincy's Corner was the front of the renovated corn crib cabin designed by Herbert Allen Moore and built by Clay Adams. The list of campers is incomplete, but according to Jimmy Bell, the front row is Richard Johnson, Ray Stanfield, two unknown boys, Donnie Johnson, Arthur Washington, Leonard Henry, Roy Lee Cummins, Daryl Henry, Wilbur Taylor, unknown. Second row: The first four are unidentified, Charlie Jackson, Curt Cummins, Jeffrey Cummins. The last two are unidentified.

CAMP CHICKASAW CAMPERS AND BUS — Camp Chickasaw transported kids via a used school bus which Herbie Moore painted with the camp's name. Jimmy Bell was kind enough to identify most of the children in the picture. Wilbur Taylor, unknown, Daryl Henry, the next two are unidentified, Curt Cummins, Ray Stanfield, Roy Lee Cummins, unknown, Jeffrey Cummins, Don Johnson. Arthur Washington, Leonard Henry, unknown, Richard Johnson, two unknowns, Charlie Jackson, and the last is unidentified.

CYNTHIANA POLICE DEPARTMENT Case reports

Feb. 7 -- At 1:14 p.m., Cindy Clark reported that a family member had been using her debit card account to pay bills for over a year. She said she permitted Lisa O'Brien, her niece, to use the card in the past and she suspects she had her accounts with Columbia Gas and her satellite television provider to make automatic withdrawals. Clark did not want to pursue criminal charges at the time and the woman agreed to pay back the nearly $3,000.

Feb. 8 -- Police observed Timothy Platt in a vehicle parked at Family Dollar Store. When the officer pulled behind Platt's truck, he noticed that Platt was trying to conceal something.

Platt later admitted that it was heroin. Platt was turned over to Kentucky State Police.

Feb. 10 -- At 2:40 p.m., Marsha Warrens of Walmart Loss Prevention reported that an altered check was passed at the store to purchase cigarettes and receive $20 back. The check was on the account of Churches of Harrison County with Daniel Cline written in and signed by Margaret Watson. Watson told police that she had written the check on Oct. 9, 2013, so that Cline could pay his water bill. A complaint will be sought through the county attorney's office.

Feb. 12 -- At 5:33 a.m., Sarah Creech, 120 Main St., reported that her livein boyfriend had assaulted her. She told police she was able to get away and call police from Apple Market. When police went to her residence Jamie Vires had left the scene and had taken her car keys and house key. He later allegedly took her car without her permission.

Feb. 12 -- At 2:07 p.m., police were asked to do a welfare check on an elderly woman living on Pearl Street.

Feb. 12 -- At 3:09 p.m., Pamela E. Due, Carlisle, reported that her daughter had written two checks from her mother's account without permission. The checks totaled $200.

Feb. 12 -- At 7:34 p.m., David Conner of Ken's NewMarket reported damage to a vending machine. The Ale-8 machine was pushed over causing $500 in damage to the machine as well as 180 bottles destroyed. Police have security video of the suspect and three individual who were with the suspect.

Mark Hart Announces His Candidacy for

State Representative, 78th House District and cornbread at the Cynthiana Rotary's annual luncheon on Friday, Feb. 21.

Mark Hart of Falmouth, Ky, on January 21st, filed his candidacy papers seeking election to the 78th District House Seat at the Secretary of State's office in Frankfort, Ky. Mr. Hart was accompanied by Chairman Billy Matthews, Pendleton County Republican Party and Vice-Chairman Sam Pierce, Harrison County Republican Party, who respectfully signed his application to run for After filing his papers, Mr. Hart was joined in the Capitol Rotunda by Senator Majority Leader Damon Thayer (R-Georgetown), Minority Leader of the House Jeff Hoover (R-Jamestown), Minority Whip of the House John Carney (R-Campbellsville), Representative Brian Linder (R-Dry Ridge), Representative Adam Koenig (R-Erlanger), Pendleton County GOP Chairman Billy Matthews, Harrison County GOP Vice-Chairman Sam Pierce, and Scott County GOP Chairman Mike Bradley, who along with Mr. Hart's family, congratulated him and offered their support for a successful campaign. Afterwards, Mr. Hart was joined by Senate President Pro Temp Katie Stine (R-Southgate) who also congratulated him and offered her support.

Mark Hart is a professional firefighter/ paramedic with the Lexington Ky Fire Department. He is a 15 year veteran of the department, holding the rank of Lieutenant and serving as an Engine Company Officer.

Mr. Hart entered local politics in 2002 when he ran for and was elected to the Falmouth City Council. He took office in 2003 and served on the council until February of 2007 when he was appointed by Governor Ernie Fletcher to fill a vacant magisterial seat on the Pendleton County Fiscal Court. Mr. Hart served on the fiscal court until the next general election when Bobby Fogle was elected to the seat. Mr. Hart was then re-elected to the Falmouth City Council where he served until January 2011. At that time he took office as Mayor of Falmouth, in which capacity he continues to serve today.

Mr. Hart, a life-long resident of Pendleton County, graduated from Northern Kentucky University in 1993 earning a Bachelor of Science in Biological Sciences. Upon graduation he joined the Ky Army National Guard and proudly served his country and the Commonwealth for six years as an artillery man and nearly three years as a combat MP and

Mr. Hart currently resides in Falmouth, next to the house he grew up in, with his wife Lisa Jones Hart and his two daughters, Hannah and Morgan Hart. Mr. Hart's wife grew up in Harrison County in the Berry area and is a 1993 graduate of Harrison County High School. Mrs. Hart graduated from Morehead State University with a BA in 1997 and a MA in 2004. She earned a certification in 2013 through Marshall University, which allowed her a Rank 1 status in teaching. She currently teaches at Sharp Middle School in Butler, Ky.

Mr. Hart, when asked why he decided to seek election to the 78th District House seat, stated, "After almost 18 years of service by Representative Tom McKee, it's just time for a change." Mr. Hart further added, "Without periodic change in our elected representation, we, as a society, are doomed to become complacent and accept the status quo leadership that eventually erodes our liberties. I'm looking forward to the opportunity to travel throughout the 78th district counties to learn the issues facing its citizens and to discuss ways in which I can help address these issues once elected to the general assembly."

Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program deadline near

The USDA Farm Service Agency's Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) provides financial assistance similar to crop insurance to eligible producers affected by natural disasters.

The upcoming deadlines to file an application for natural disaster protection under the NAP are March 1 and March 15.

The crops for March 1 deadline are: Alfalfa, clover, grass, millet, mixfg, The crops for March 15 deadline are: Asparagus, beans, beets, broccoli, cabbage, cantaloupe, carrots, cauliflower, celery, corn, corn-hybrid seed, cucumbers, eggplant, garlic, gourds, greens, herbs, honeydew, leeks, lettuce, onions, parsnip, peas, peppers, popcorn, potatoes, pumpkins, radish, sorghum, sorghumgrain, soybeans, squash, strawberries, sunflowers, sweet potatoes, tobaccoburley, tobacco-dark air, tobacco-fire cured, tomatillos, tomatoes, turnips, and watermelons.

Eligible producers must apply for coverage of noninsurable crops using form CCC-471, and pay the applicable service fee at the FSA office where their farm records are maintained.

The application and service fee must be filed by the application closing Applications require a service fee equal to $250 per crop per county or $750 per producer per county not to exceed a total of $1,875 per producer for all counties. Limited resource producers may request a waiver of the service fee. To qualify for an administrative service fee waiver. the producer must meet established criteria.

For more information contact your local FSA office. Many farmers qualify as limited resource and obtain free coverage for their crops. NAP coverage normally begins 30 days after payment of fees and continues through the expected harvest period. Accepted applications provide catastrophic protection for loss levels that exceed 50 percent of the approved yield for the crop unit. A unit includes all the crop acreage in the county in which the producer has a unique interest. Loss payments are calculated on 55 percent of the average established market price for the covered crop.

Producers with NAP coverage are reminded to file a notice of loss within 15 days of a natural disaster affecting the crop or when the loss becomes apparent.

Contact the local FSA office for additional NAP closing dates. Producers should always check with their local FSA office for specific crops and other application closing dates.

record. The above description is in accordance with a survey made by W. Thomas Leach with Hicks & Mann, Inc. on the 6th of May, 2004.

Subject to any and all easements, restrictions, conditions, and legal highways of record and/or in

Being the same property conveyed to Beverly F. Gibson, unmarried, by virtue of a deed dated 08/19/2005 and recorded on 09/01/2005 at Deed Book 286, Page 50 of the Harrison County, Kentucky real estate records.

The property is being sold to produce a sum sufficient to satisfy the judgments and liens as follows: (a) The costs of this action, including the Master Commissioner's fee, appraiser's fee and advertising costs; and (b) Judgment for the Plaintiff, L&N Federal Credit Union, in the amount of $105,945.50, plus interest in the amount of $3,289.68 through January 2, 2014, with interest thereafter at the rate of 4.125% per annum until paid, plus late fees and any additional costs expended by Plaintiff to protect or preserve the property until sale date. (c) Real Estate taxes, plus interest and penalties, if any, for taxes assessed for the year 2013 and previous years. (d) Plaintiff's Court costs and attorney fees.

The property shall be sold upon the following terms and conditions: (1) The property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and claims of the parties to this action; (2) The purchaser shall be required to pay the sum of 10% of the purchase price in cash, certified funds or by other immediately verifiable collectable medium of exchange acceptable to the Commissioner, on the day of sale to apply on the purchase price; (3) The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable within thirty (30) days after the day of sale; (4) The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond with good and sufficient surety thereon as approved by the Commissioner to secure the unpaid portion of the purchase price, the bond to bear interest at the rate of 12% per annum from the day of sale until paid, the bond to have the same force and effect as a judgment and shall remain a lien on the property as additional security until the purchase price is paid in full; (5) In the event that the Plaintiff is the successful purchaser, it shall be entitled to a credit on its judgment against the purchase price and shall only be obligated to pay court costs, the fees and costs of the Master Commissioner, and any real estate taxes payable pursuant to this order, and in that event, no bond shall be required; (6) The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying the bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal together with all accrued interest thereon until the date of payment; (7) The purchaser shall obtain possession of the property upon confirmation of the sale by the Court and payment of the purchase price in full; (8) All ad valorem taxes on the property for calendar year 2014 and all subsequent years shall be assumed and paid by the purchaser. All real property taxes due and owing to Harrison County or the City of Cynthiana for 2013 and prior years will be paid from the proceeds of sale. (9) The property shall be sold subject to any assessment for public improvements levied against the property and subject to all rules and regulations enforced by the Cynthiana-Harrison County-Berry Joint Planning and Zoning Commission, all applicable health and safety regulations, all restrictions and easements thereon appearing of record in the Harrison County Court Clerk's Office, governmental laws and regulations affecting the property, and shall be subject to any unrecorded easements, discrepancies or conflicts in boundary lines, shortage in area and encroachments, if any there be, which an accurate and complete survey or an inspection of the property would disclose; (10) The purchaser shall bear the risk of loss on the improvements on the property and the risk of loss shall pass to the purchaser as of the day and time of sale; (11) The property shall be sold with any improvements thereon "as is"; and (12) The property shall be sold subject to such right of redemption as may exist in favor of the United States of America pursuant to 28 USC Section 2410, and the right of redemption of the Defendants.

All bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms. Attorneys:

NOTICE

Kentucky-American Water Company provides notice of its requested adjustment of the Kentucky River Authority withdrawal fee. The fees contained in this notice are the fees to be proposed by Kentucky-American Water Company to the public Service Commission no later than March 1, 2014 to be effective on March 31, 2014. The current fee, which applies to Residential, Commercial, Industrial,

Other Public Authority and sales for Resale customers, is $0.0091 per 100 gallons, $0.0913 per 1,000 gallons or $0.0683 per 100 cubic feet. The requested increased adjusted fee, which applies to the same customer classes as the current fee, is $0.0180 per 100 gallons, $0.1801 per 1,000 gallons or $0.1347 per 100 cubic feet. For all customer classes to which the fee applies, the requested adjusted fee is an increase of 0.0888 or 97.26% per 1,000 gallons. Average usage, in thousands of gallons, for each customer class to which the fee applies is: Residential: 4.5; Commercial: 36; Industrial: 2,092;

Other Public Authority: 212.4; and Sales for Resale 2,930. The effect on the average monthly bill for each customer class to which the increased fee applies is: Residential: $0.40; Commercial: $3.20; Industrial: $186.19; Other Public Authority: $18.90; and Sales for Resale:

$260.77. Any person may examine the filing in which this request is made and any other documents Kentucky-American Water Company has filed with the Public Service Commission at Kentucky-American Water Company's offices located at 2300 Richmond Road, Lexington, Kentucky 40502, and on the utility's website at http:// www.amwater.com/kyaw/. This filing and related documents may also be examined at the Public Service Commission's offices located at 211 Sower Boulevard, Frankfort, Kentucky, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or through the Commission's website at http://psc.ky.gov. Comments regarding this filing may be submitted to the Public Service Commission through its website or by mail to Public Service Commission, P.O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky

40602. The fees contained in this notice are the fees proposed by

Kentucky-American Water Company, but the Public Service Commission may order fees to be charged that differ from the proposed fees contained in this notice. A person may submit a timely written request for intervention to the Public Service Commission, P.O Box

615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, establishing the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. If the Commission does not receive a written request for intervention within thirty (30)

Quality Health Coverage. For Every Kentuckian.

All over America, people are talking about kynect: Kentucky's Healthcare Connection.

They're saying how easy it is to enroll to get the quality health coverage you and your family deserve.

There's still plenty of time for you to enroll, too. Plus, kynect is the only place to see if you qualify for Medicaid, KCHIP or discounts on private insurance. It's a new day for healthcare in Kentucky.

And with kynect, quality healthcare coverage for everyone is a reality.

Visit our informational website at kynect.ky.gov to get started.
